Introduction

Culture & Diversity Definitions

Culture refers to a group or community which shares common experiences that shape the way its members understand the world. (University of Kansas, 2014) Culture can be along the dimensions of race, ethnicity, socio-economic status, age, physical and mental abilities, religious beliefs, political beliefs, or other ideologies.

Diversity is a reality created by individuals and groups from a broad spectrum of demographic and philosophical differences. These include but are not limited to age, ethnicity, class, physical and mental abilities/qualities, race, as well as religious status, educational background, geographical location, income, marital status, parental status, and work experiences. (Queensborough Community College, 2020)

The term “culturally diverse” is often used interchangeably with the concept of “multiculturalism.” Multiculturalism is defined as:

“...a system of beliefs and behaviors that recognizes and respects the presence of all diverse groups in an organization or society, acknowledges and values their socio-cultural differences, and encourages and enables their continued contribution within an inclusive cultural context which empowers all within the organization or society. (Purdue University, 2020)

Sociologist Dr. Caleb Rosado, who specializes in diversity and multiculturalism, described seven important actions involved in the definition of multiculturalism:

- Recognition of the abundant diversity of cultures.
- Respect for the differences.
- Acknowledging the validity of different cultural expressions and contributions.
- Valuing what other cultures offer.
- Encouraging the contribution of diverse groups.
- Empowering people to strengthen themselves and others to achieve their maximum potential by being critical of their own biases; and
- Celebrating rather than just tolerating the differences to bring about unity through diversity.

(Purdue University, 2020)

Summary

In order to experience real, lasting change so the League becomes as diverse as our parishes there needs to be a continued effort that lasts long after this group disbands; it needs to be a consistent long-lasting priority. There is a hope that the League will keep using images of cultural and generationally diverse women in advertising wherever possible.

Change never happens quickly. To sustain a truly diverse membership in the League we need to constantly be welcoming new members to our councils from diverse cultures and generations. We must endeavour to never just get comfortable in our groups and always strive to constantly learn about the people around us. This is one way that we will be able to truly encourage diversity in the League.
